Runaway Car Causes Fire Damaging House

A runaway car, sans driver, ran down a hill on Valeta St., and backed into the home of J. W. Snelson, 4419 Montalvo St., Saturday, causing a fire which damaged both the house and the car, police officers report. Firemen were called to put out the blaze. Officers stated that the car had been parked by Mrs. Louise Blake of 4381 Montalvo St. Their report showed that the car had backed into the Snelson home's gas meter, severing a line, that the escaping gas was ignited by a pilot light on the kitchen stove directly behind the scene of the crash; then flames reached the auto's gas tank and ignited the fuel, spreading to the house attic.

Legion Talks Of Possibilities For Living Memorial

Clyde A. Wright post of the American Legion at the May meeting, held May 17 at the Woman's clubhouse talked over military memorials and the sentiment strongly favored a living memorial rather than a plaque, with which to honor the servicemen of this war who have given their lives. "Sentiment seemed to be that the servicemen would prefer a building that could be a club and meeting place for them after the war," Commander Earl Shaw stated Thursday in commenting on the meeting.

Report was given at the meeting showing that $2,000 in war bonds already had been sold by the post committee; J. R. Lowmes and Marc Strauss, who are in charge of the Seventh War Loan drive here for the Legion. A carton of cigarettes each went to Noel Swetland and C. F. Keister, winners of the door prizes. Same prizes will be offered at the June meeting.

Strand Theatre Given Paint "Face Lifting"

The Strand Theatre was given a painted "face lifting" this week by Painter Lloyd Greason of Ocean Beach. Don Thomson. Thomson reports that 20 new loges seats have been ordered for the front two rows of that section of the auditorium.

Optimism Over World Conference Expressed Here

Speakers At Kiwanis Review Various Conferences

Both Dr. Alfred Sand and L. L. Bloomenshine, the speakers Tuesday evening at the Kiwanis Club meeting, agreed that headway toward international peace has been made by the World conference at San Francisco and at the other international meetings and conferences that preceded the one now in session in the city at the Golden Gate.

Dr. Sand reviewed the conferences that led up to the one at San Francisco and declared his belief that it might be well to "play ball" with Russia. As a matter of fact, he said, Russia can't afford another war in the next 50 years and is likely more interested in the success of the World conference now in session than any other nation.

Mr. Bloomenshine, who is principal of Point Loma high school, reviewed the achievements at the San Francisco conference to date and said in conclusion that he was prone to agree with Commander Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, who is one of the outstanding members of the U. S. delegation, that the present World conference is a "beachhead on the way to peace and that out of the conference peace eventually will emerge."

"Of interest is the fact that the framework of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals thus far have been maintained by and large at San Francisco and with few important changes," the speaker declared.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of the committee that has the "support for churches" project of the Kiwanis Club.

Contractor C. W. Moran Starts 40 Residences

Begins Four Bedroom House For Himself This Week

Residential building on a large scale got under way in the Ocean Beach community this week when contractor C. W. Moran of San Diego began Tuesday the excavation for a four-bedroom, two-story, modernistic style residence at 44-43 Pescadero Ave., Point Loma Heights.

He indicated in an interview with the Ocean Beach News that this is the first of what he expects will be about forty new residences he expects to build in this community. He stated he had purchased sixteen residence lots in recent weeks here, on which to build as soon as possible. A good many of the lots bought are on Coronado and Coronado Avenues.

The residence at 4443 Pescadero, with 100 foot frontage on that avenue, will be for Mr. Moran and his family, with an unusual number of windows as a feature. The John Hansen Excavating Company began work Tuesday morning with a bulldozer, a steam shovel and four trucks. A construction office has been erected across the street.

Also across the street, Mr. Moran will start at once on the construction of three residences, each a two-bedroom. One will be at 4446 Pescadero Avenue, which he has sold to Mrs. O. H. Olson. One of the three he has sold to Eddie Leonard. All three will be one-story bungalow type. "We are building houses particularly for owner occupancy," he said. "We plan to have the four completed in around 70 days."

Mr. Moran also stated that he planned to establish in Ocean Beach a sub-office to his main office down town in order to expedite his operations here. Jack Carter, he said, will be in charge of the local office.

Other Houses Under Way Several other new residences are under construction and others are planned for this season, according to a survey made this week by the Ocean Beach News.

Mrs. Ruth Dryden is completing a two-bedroom home at 4558 Bermuda Avenue, into which she and her sister, Mrs. Madeline Teerla, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Tamm, expect to move next week. They are now living on Newport Avenue. Both the husbands of the two sisters are in the armed forces. Mrs. Teerla's husband, Rudolph, is a warrant officer in the Marine Corps and has been overseas in the Pacific for about a year. Mrs. Dryden's husband, Robert, has been assigned to overseas duty and likely is on his way this week from North Carolina. Mrs. Dryden, who has been with him there, expects to arrive here before the end of the month. Contractor L. Chapman of Ocean Beach, is building the Dryden home.

Mr. and Mrs. Olly Stoffel are completing a three-bedroom home at 4527 Del Mar Avenue, and expect to have it ready for occupancy in the next few days, and will then move in to occupy it. The Severin Construction Company is the builder.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Fowler have recently completed a two bedroom, two-story residence at 4681 Orchard Ave. and are now occupying it. Mr. Fowler is a builder and they have been residents of San Diego for 10 years.

Walter E. Phillips of Ocean Beach, is constructing a three-bedroom residence at 4460 Santa Cruz Avenue, for himself and his mother. Builders are Anderson and Johnson of San Diego.

Sam Nix of Ocean Beach, a disabled war veteran of both World Wars, is completing a three-bedroom residence at 4928 Narra-gansett Avenue, which he and his family of a wife and two children, will occupy. He said Tuesday that he plans later to make it a duplex. He has done most of the construction work himself. Mr. Nix received his discharge from the armed forces last November after 14 months of service overseas in the Pacific. He took part in the actions in the Solomons and Bougainville as a member of the 53rd Seabees battalion of the First Marine Amphibious group.

A permit was obtained this week by E. Bloom for construction of a $5600 residence at 4455 Orchard Ave.

Local Lots In Demand Residence lots in Ocean Beach have been more in demand than usual during recent weeks. Realtor John Loftus reports that he sold 12 lots in one week and had disposed of nearly all of the residence lots in the lower price brackets that he had had listed.

Realtor John A. Titlow also reports more than usual activity this spring in the sale of residence lots in this community. For the most part they are being purchased by families who intend to build as soon as the necessary priorities can be obtained, with the idea of making their homes here.

Restrictions Being Eased San Diego's federally authorized program for private construction of 1200 new homes was launched last week with the announcement by Edward A. Walsh, assistant district director of the F.H.A., that acceptance of priority applications is under way.

The program calls for building of 200 units monthly in San Diego over a six-month period, with 300 of the total allotment reserved for owner occupancy, 450 for rentals and 500 for sales. Maximum sales price, based on a three-bedroom unit, is $7000, and top rental rate is $60 monthly. Lower figures are set for smaller units.

Fifty units of the monthly quota will be apportioned to owner occupancy, 67 to rentals and 82 to sales.

It is imperative that priorities be granted to those who will get construction started as soon as possible.

Applications will be acted upon in the order received and decisions will be based on completeness and sufficiency of statements as submitted, with preference given local builders. In the initial monthly allotment, no single builder will be allowed more than four sales units and eight rental units, according to the F.H.A. announcement.

OCEAN BEACH OFFICER

WRITES MOTHER, TELLING OF V-E DAY IN PARIS

Capt. Bob Neiman, son of Mrs. Charles P. Freeman, 2228 Abbott St., has written a letter to his mother describing the celebration in Paris on V-E Day. "It was an unforgettable experience and had it not been for the dramatic, technical finish of the war here, it would have been one of the wildest on record for every G. I. in the European theatre of operations," he wrote. Capt. Neiman, now assigned to repatriation of the V. I. P.'s, "very important people," went to Paris especially for V-E day. "Such a celebration I've never seen. Anything ever held in the U. S. was amateurish in comparison," he wrote. "Every Frenchman for miles around—gathered to join the fun. Hundreds of thousands of them milled around all day and night up and down the famous Champs Elysees, from Arc de Triomphe to Place de la Concorde, down to the Opera house and to the Eiffel tower, blocking all streets. "After six hours of wild celebration the sky began to darken over Paris, and flares and rockets were then dropped. But there was a sober note through all of this. G. I.'s stood back and watched. Many sat on curbs while the crowd swelled. Others took to window sills and trees as the crowd grew and swamped the streets. "I think the Pacific war was on their minds, and while the French were celebrating the end of the war to them, for our side it was one down and one to go. The job was just half finished."

SERVICE HIGHLIGHTS

Among seven Dan Diego area men of a total of 1400 Seabees back in the United States this week for leave and re-assignment after more than 20 months of service on construction jobs from Guadalcanal to Guam was Solon A. Powell, CMic, of 4979 W. Pt. Loma Blvd. One of their worst tasks, the men reported, was clearing the areas of Jap snipers, each battalion incurring casualties from sniper bullets. The men were required at times to hop from bulldozers, lay down picks and shovels and pick up rifles and go Jap hunting. Palmer O. Little, son of Capt. and Mrs. E. O. Little, 600 Cata-

O. B. Truck Driver Has Narrow Escape

Durward Wm. Back of 1665 Bacon St., had a close shave from going off Mission Bay bridge with the Ocean Beach Transfer truck he was driving about 5:30 Wednesday. According to report of traffic officers the truck swerved out of control, sideswiped a northbound car driven by James Shabow, a sailor, crashed through a 16-inch guard rail and stopped perilously suspended over the water.

The report stated that the truck, southbound, swung suddenly to the left side of the bridge directly into the path of the car, then plunged back across the bridge and stopped part way through the guard rail. Shabow violently veered his car to the left to avoid collision, but the truck crashed into his right rear fender, the officers reported.

Fortunately neither driver was hurt and the truck suffered only minor damage, they said.

There is Ens. Charles Parker of the Navy.

Mathew Wm. Bryant, 21, a fireman first class in the Navy, is one of the survivors of the famous carrier Franklin which survived one of the worst disasters in the history of the Navy when it was bombed by the Japs in the Pacific. Maybe Think

DO YOU KNOW WHO WAS Edward F. Younger? Well, he was an army sergeant in France in 1921, an American soldier. He was ordered by the War Department to choose one among the many coffins of unknown soldiers, one to be buried at the Arlington Shrine. Walking along the serried line of flag covered boxes, he put on his hand and said: "This one." It was as simple as that.

Wendy says she wants to go back to Sunday School to learn more about the Ten Commandments.

War or no war, and income taxes notwithstanding, there comes a time in a man's life when a woman has to have another husband.

A modern gal's clothing is like a barbed wire fence—it protects the property without obstructing the view.

The teacher had forbidden the children to eat candy in school, so she was suspicious of a little girl with a lump in her cheek.

"Minnie," she said, "are you eating candy?"

"No, teacher," Minnie replied. "I'm just soaking a prune to eat at recess."

"House for Rent". Such signs are almost extinct in these days.

But right in the heart of New York there is a house for rent. Charles Schwab, the steel magnate, used to live there. The rent? Oh, it's only $6,250 per month.

Well, you can't get a 75-room house for nothing!

The solitary chick surveyed the unhatched eggs in the incubator. "Well, it looks like I'm the only child; mother blew a fuse."

And a sign in Salt Lake tailor-shop: "UNIFORMS CLEANED AND PRESSED IN THE REAR"

The World is a looking-glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it in turn will look sourly upon you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion.

Counsel—Can you repeat the exact words in which the prisoner confessed taking the pig?

Witness—He said he took the pig.

Judge—(trying to simplify matters) Did he say—He took the pig, or I took the pig?

Witness—No, he said he took it. Your name wasn't mentioned, Your Honor.

A woman came into the income tax office at Oklahoma City and put a quarter down on the ledge in front of the cashier's window.

"What's that for?" asked the cashier.

"It says in the paper that I can pay my income tax a quarter at a time," the lady explained.

A cub reporter assigned to cover a high school play, contributed this masterpiece: "the auditorium was filled with expectant mothers, eagerly awaiting the appearance of their children."

Enid Teacher: "What ancient ruler was it who played on the fiddle while Rome was burning?" Jimmie: "Hector, ma'am."

Teacher: "No, not Hector. Hector was no ruler, but a Trojan prince. Try again."

Jimmie: "Then it was Duke." Teacher: "Duke? What do you mean, Jimmie?"

Jimmie: "Well, then it must have been Nero. I knew it was somebody with a dog's name."

"If your nose is close To the grindstone rough, And you hold it down There long enough In time you'll say There's no such thing As brooks that babble And birds that sing. These three will all Your world compose—Just You, the Stone And your darned old Nose."

MEMORIAL DAY—

America stands with head bowed and bared on this day in memory of her fallen heroes.

Their silent ranks that march unseen are evidenced only by graves all over the world—graves that mark the paths our armies have trod in their fight for victory and peace.

They lie on Okinawa and Iwo Jima, Bataan and Corregidor, Bougainville and Guadalcanal. There are fields of white crosses in North Africa and Italy, on the beaches of Normandy, on the banks of the Rhine.

They were young men. They loved life. They did not want to die. But they gave their lives that their country might survive, and that other young men of another generation who will love life and will not want to die, will not have to die on the field of battle.

These are our honored dead. And yet, they are not dead. The assurance of immortality is too strong, too insistent in our hearts to believe other than that these men are still going on unscathed by the violence that struck down their mortal bodies.

To these men, and to all the valiant Americans who throughout the history of our great Nation have fought and died in freedom's name—to them we owe a debt that can never be paid.

Their memory will live in our hearts; we can never forget them. But even more important than the personal memory—sacred though that is—is the memory of the cause for which they died. This we must not, we dare not, forget.

Out of the tears of today, out of the solemnity of this hour, comes forth the hope of a brighter tomorrow when men and nations, in the light of mutual trust and respect, will "learn war no more," but shall walk together in eternal paths of peace.

BONDS—PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE—

As this "Mighty Seventh" War Loan drive moves toward the goal of $14 billion—$7 billion to be subscribed by individuals—let us remember that we Americans are not the only ones interested in its outcome.

The Japs also have a keen interest in it. Why? Because they are looking for signs of a letdown on our part now that Germany is beaten.

They know that if we concentrate our full strength against them with the same vigor and determination that have characterized our efforts thus far, then their Japanese goose is cooked.

And if they become thoroughly convinced that such is our unwavering intention, many observers believe that this would tend to weaken the determination of Nipponese leaders to fight a suicidal struggle. This would mean a shorter Pacific war and the saving of many American lives.

Indifference to this War Bond drive, however, would encourage them to hope that we are easing up. It would spur them to hang on even more tenaciously in the belief that we will eventually grow weary of war and permit a negotiated peace.

So, the Seventh War Loan campaign involves something more than an opportunity to invest our funds and protect our future. We can make it, we must make it, a potent weapon in the psychological warfare that will hasten the surrender of the last Axis member and bring a full and final peace.

Every American should step into the nearest bank or other War Bond agency today and buy Bonds. And then keep them.

Red Cross Camp and Hospital is opening a new recreation center for our wounded boys who will be able to have their relatives and friends visit them, and would like a tablecloth, sugar and creamer, tea and coffee jug, tea spoons and a flat bowl that can be used for flowers. Would like the tea pot and coffee jug large enough to hold six or eight cups.

If you can supply any of these articles please bring them to 4769 Del Monte Ave. or call B-5639.

Don't forget to send in your card tables, and playing cards, also musical instruments and phonograph records.

If you are one of those who can donate your blood please go to "Blood" donor center and give a pint to save a life. Call F-7704 and make an appointment. Your blood is so badly needed, especially type O.

Wednesday is cookie day. We have sugar and fat here at the center. Please take time to bake a cake or some cookies. It means so much to those boys in the hospital who are away from home on their birthdays.

If you have a card table and the top is spoiled but the legs are good send it in. The boys in the shops will put a new top on it. Send in your lamps. They also can be fixed. Don't forget to send in articles for the new recreational center.

Red Cross certainly appreciates the work done by Ocean Beach residents. We must not fail our boys now.

Taking Of Tax
Declarations Now
At Urgency Stage

The taking of tax declarations in the assessor's office has now reached the pressure or urgency stage. Each person owning taxable property in San Diego county should realize that it is his duty and legal responsibility to give the assessor a statement of his property as soon after the first Monday of March as is practical and in all instances, not later than the last Monday in June.

On the first Monday of March, 54,000 declaration forms were sent out by the assessor to people who have made statements in the previous year, making a demand for the return of the statement within ten days. To date there still remains 5,000 of these forms to be returned.

Newcomers in the county and others who have not made a statement in previous years will not receive this mail form, but none the less, have a responsibility of giving this statement.

The assessor's office is now sending what is known as a legal demand for statement to all addresses from which statements have not been received. Taxpayers received this demand should realize that letters of this kind, which have a legal significance, must be exacting in its language.

"There undoubtedly will be a few who will receive this legal demand for statement who have already made their statements. In the handling of 100,000 statements, it is inevitable that there will be some overlapping during the time that the street index will be checked," said Assessor Crowell D. Eddy.

Those who receive this demand and who have previously made their statement should first be sure that they have made a statement covering each address at which they own personal property. If such a statement has been made, they should return the demand to the assessor with a notation of statements that have been made.

Every resident maintaining a house of his own is entitled to $100 householder's exemption on his personal property, but the only way in which the assessor can determine whether he is a householder is by his having made a statement to the assessor. All taxpayers should therefore check these matters immediately, and if statements have not been made as required by law, they should attend to the making of their statement at once to avoid penalties.

Seventh War Loan

(By Brownie Berry)

The Seventh War Loan Drive is on. We've GOT to beat the Japs. With our Fourteen Billion quota, We'll DO IT TOO, perhaps.

This war is like a baseball game. We had just three strikes to throw.

We've put two balls across the plate. With just one more pitch to go.

This is no time for 'Hip Hoorays' NO TIME TO CELEBRATE. Suppose our G. I.'s say they're through, What then, would be our fate?

Remember Folks, we're still at War.

This job's for everyone. We've got to keep on buying bonds.

'Til we've set the Rising Sun.

I hope by now, you realize. What I've tried to impress. If some one asks "Did you buy yours?" Make sure your answer's 'yes.'

Robert W. Riffe, marine master technical sergeant, of 2038 Abbot St., Ocean Beach, is on duty on Iwo Jima as a mess sergeant for a Leatherneck unit, reports the Marine Corps at San Francisco.

California Bass
Baritone Will Be Guest Soloist

(By Mrs. H. H. Hartvigsen)

The San Diego Choral Club, Dr. Earl Rosenberg conductor, will be heard in its 12th semi-annual concert, Monday at 8:30 p. m. in the auditorium of the San Diego Woman's Club, Third and Maple. Inez Davenport is the accompanist.

Guest soloist will be Edward Wellman, bass baritone of the San Francisco Opera company. He first joined the company as a member of the opera chorus in 1938. But before making his first appearance on the stage as a member of the chorus he was given the starring role of Count Ceprano in "Rigoletto." That role which he first gave in support of Lily Pons and Lawrence Tibbett, he has continued to sing every season since.

Other starring roles with the San Francisco Grand Opera have been in "Madame Butterfly," "Girl of the Golden West," "La Boheme" and "La Traviata." His outstanding concert success has been in the role of Dr. Miracle in "Tales of Hoffman." Mr. Wellman has frequently been guest artist with the San Francisco and Oakland symphony orchestras and is currently starring on three Blue network radio programs. He will present eight numbers on the program and the Choral club will sing twelve songs by well known composers.

Mrs. Veda Moss and niece, Mrs. Mary Margaret Winn are in Los Angeles this week on a business and pleasure trip. Mrs. Winn, who has been working for one of the studios in Hollywood, will go to Keokuk, Iowa to visit her mother, and then to St. Louis, Mo., to visit her husband, Pvt. Dudley Winn. The latter, who is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis M. Winn, has been transferred from Texas to an army photography school near St. Louis. The Winns other son, a first lieutenant in the Marine, is expected home from the Pacific next week.

Lieut. and Mrs. C. F. Cole are now residents of Ocean Beach, having recently moved here from Humboldt, Iowa. AMERICAN HEROES

by WOODY COWAN

Lt. LETSON S. BALLIETT, Reno, Nev., awarded a silver star medal, showed conspicuous gallantry in holding a submarine at bay in the Atlantic. As pilot of a Navy torpedo bomber that War Bonds helped to supply, Lt. Balliett, on routine patrol, sighted the German undersea craft fully surfaced and immediately went into action. He let go depth charges across its stern, bracketing and damaging the ship. In the face of anti-aircraft fire, he returned to strafe the submarine and then kept it constantly under surveillance.

Village School Of Art Starting In Ocean Beach

The "Village School" of Art, conducted by Orrin R. Loudon and Robert R. Stewart, is opening in Ocean Beach, with headquarters at 5172 W. Pt. Loma Blvd. Promising students with a sincere desire to paint are taken regardless of their previous training, announces Mr. Loudon. "The method of conducting the class is as follows: A territory is assigned and students choose their own subject, matter and composition. The beginners receive individual instruction and criticism on Mondays and Fridays. The advanced students receive their instruction on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The two classes meet on Saturday for a general classroom discussion and are entitled to and expected to bring all class work and outside canvases and drawings for a general review.

"A special Sunday class for the employed will be held alternate Sundays. The idea of the alternate Sundays is that the instructors will give their entire day to the students and on the following Sunday the students will paint unassisted and will bring their work in the next Sunday for criticism."

A special children's art class will start in July under the direction of Marian S. Loudon, instructor of art in the Washington D. C. public schools. Mrs. Loudon has specialized in teaching art to children for the past 20 years.

The classes are conducted by Mr. Loudon a member of the Art Students League of New York and late a captain in the Army Air Corps, and Robert R. Stewart, of the U. S. Naval Air Forces. Mr. Loudon has studied with some of the greatest masters both in this country and France, has had many one man exhibitions of his paintings in New York, Washington and Paris and was one of the founders of the Progressive Arts association of New York, an organization formed to encourage young painters and put their work before the public. Mr. Stewart and Mr. Loudon plan to organize a similar association in San Diego as they feel there is an unusual amount of undiscovered talent here.

Mr. Stewart is a native of Santa Maria, Calif., and specializes in painting the California scene. He is stationed in San Diego after a long, hazardous tour of duty in the South Pacific with the U. S. Naval Air Forces. Carolyn C. Campbell of La Jolla and Ocean Beach is acting as executive secretary of the new school.

Jean Doyle Will Compete In Net Tourney At L. A.

Jean Doyle, Point Loma High tennis star, will compete Saturday (tomorrow) in the finals at Los Angeles of the 59th annual Southern California tennis championship tournament. With Betty Ravenscroft of San Diego as a partner Jean will play in the doubles of the women's division and with Margaret Varner as partner in the junior doubles.

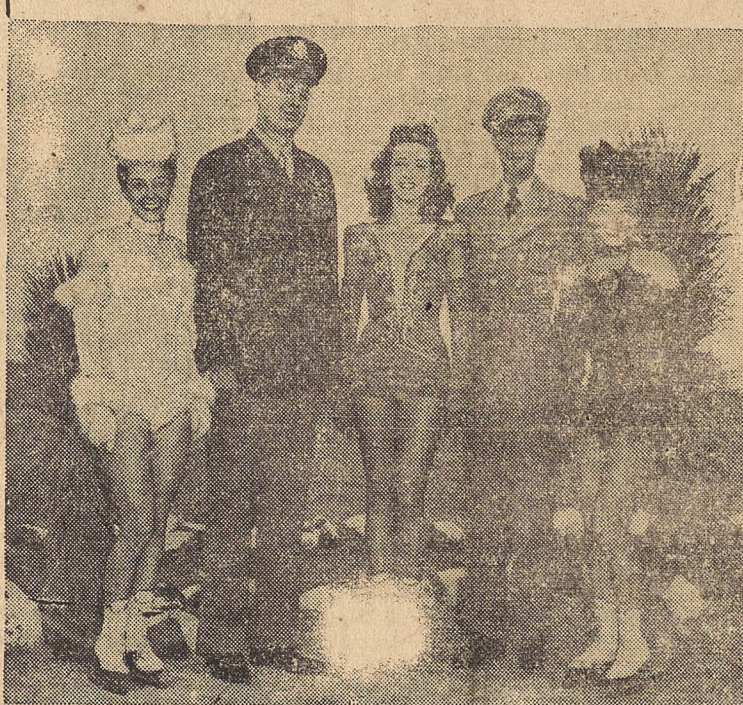

Miss Doyle ran into a snag in the singles of the same tournament staged at Los Angeles last Saturday, losing in the first round to Helen Pastall, 4-6, 6-2, and 6-2.

George Gentry, the 15-year old La Jolla tennis star, is expected to come through without a defeat in the last rounds of the junior boys division Saturday. Last Saturday he won the quarter finals from W. Tudor 6-2 and 6-1.

Doyle wants to thank the Ocean Beach police who gave her all the relief possible and provided the ambulance to take her to the doctor's office; and to thank all the neighbors who were so grand in helping.

ICE SKATES IN THE DESERT FOR THE BOYS IN SERVICE

Colonel John Feagin, Commanding Officer of Tonopah Army Air Field, Tonopah, Nevada, poses against the background of sand and Joshua trees with some of the ice skating troupe who appeared there through arrangements made by Mr. Walter S. Mack, Jr., President of Pepsi-Cola Company, to bring some fun to the Air Corps men pining for entertainment so far from home. The show was put on in an airplane hangar with mobile ice tanks and other equipment transported from civilization to the hot sands of Tonopah.

GREAT HILARITY ON V-E DAY IN PARIS. PRIVATE WRITES TO HIS MOTHER

Pvt. Marvin Lee Smith, stationed with the 709th M. P. Br. in Paris, France, wrote that V-E Day was celebrated with a great hilarity of singing and shouting by the Parisians. They sang their national anthem and songs and also songs of our nation. Favorites such as "Over There" and "It's a Long Way To Tipperary" from World War I were sung again and again. The French girls formed circles around the soldiers and civilians and the Yanks weren't released until they had given the girls a kiss, Parisian style, on both cheeks. The Americans in Paris were quite jubilant over the ending of the war in Europe but their happiness was dimmed by the fact that they still have a war to win in the Pacific. Marvin's wife, Leola Smith, and son, Marvin Lee, Jr., reside at 4948 Muir Avenue.
